

The story of Mourne Textiles

Northern Ireland's Mourne Textiles produced furnishing fabrics that united traditional skills with mid-century style for design greats such as Robin Day and Terence Conran. Jo-ann Fortune speaks to Mario Sierra, the grandson of the founder and now Head of the company, about how their incredible archive is shaping their future.

Family Fortunes

